Undergraduate degree and a Master in Business Administration.

Elected independent Councillor on Camden Council.

Lived experience as a father with young children, a small business owner, mortgage holder and community advocate.

Not funded by any major donors or groups. Not part of a political party who is funded by big donors and corporations.

No strings attached community leader who isn't constrained by a political party.

Has a proven record in engaging the community in decision making and will continue to.

Has two ears and one mouth so always listens first and listens more.

Doesn't like to be called a politician because no one trusts politicians. Call him Pete, Peter, old mate or almost anything else.

Peter believes politics can be done better and your voice can be heard.

PETER'S COMMITMENT TO YOU:

I will advocate for all measures to reduce the cost of living and fight for subsidies to help young families, promote physical activity and take the pressure off the cost of housing.

I will help to minimise the harm which gambling has on our community.

I will consult across community and give younger people a voice in decision making.

I will invite community members and young people to Canberra to participate in the parliamentary process.

I will fight for our fair share of infrastructure investment including transport, health and education, not just when there is an election. This includes the Spring Farm Parkway, Picton bypass, Camden Bypass extension onto Camden Valley Way, Wilton Hospital and rail connections to the Western Sydney airport. The far southwest can't continue to be treated as second class citizens.

I will fight for a better tax system, lower taxes and real cost of living measures including utility and grocery relief.

I will ensure our local communities are protected including holding the new Western Sydney Airport to account.

I will hold quarterly community forums and weekly community catchups across Hume.

I will be present and focus all my time and attention in Hume and not travelling around to advance a political cause.

I will report back to you on progress and developments.
